You are hereby notified that I have expended one hundred dollars ($100) in labor and improvements upon the Wall Street mining claim, situate in the Silver Mountain Mining District, Socorro county, New Mexico, being the amount required by law to hold the same, as assessment work for the year ending December 31st, 1890 and, that if within ninety days after the first publication of this notice you fail or refuse to contribute your proportion of such expenditure as co-owners, your interests in said claim will become the property of the undersigned, under the provisions of section 2324 of the Revised Statutes of United States. JOHN J. A. DORRICK. Socorro, N. M., Feb. 27, 1891.

Additional Editorial.

ANOTHER of the splendid war ships that were ordered under the administration of Mr. Cleveland, was launched at Philadelphia on Tuesday last, in the presence of 15,000 people.—Headlight.

"Under the Cleveland administration," that is good! Under the Cleveland administration New Mexico got a back set it will take her twenty years to recover from.

The democrats who have been assisting Hill substantially concede defeat, now that the false issues raised by Hill and company, for the purpose of robbing Senator-elect Sherwood and the dead Senator Deane, are to be decided in the courts. Hill strained every nerve, and stopped at no obstacle presented by law, justice or decency, to prevent the courts from having an opportunity to act. The judges whose integrity and authority he strove to evade are not republicans. They are democrats, and no doubt strong partisans, but they are honest men, animated by a sense of duty above their attachment to party.

The Senate is now secure. The law as to the ballots thrown out in Dutchess county is as clear as as its violation was outrageous, and, as to Senator Sherwood's seat, should the technicality raised against him be adjudged to have a legal foundation, the new election would undoubtedly result in republican success.

The senate is saved, and that means that the state of New York is saved; that one of the most desperate of political crimes has been balked in its object and that David B. Hill stands before the country stripped of whatever disguise he possessed, of principle and political honesty, and held up to the nation as an example of that which is most despicable and dangerous in the political life of the nation.

The above from the New York Press, puts a different phase on the political situation in New York.

A DIRECT SLAP AT CHILDERS.

THE new land court might do worse than steer shy of the recommendations of the New Mexico Bar Association. Any laws or amendments suggested by that body, are apt to be in the interest of land grabbers. We take the liberty of suggesting to the judges that, while this bar association stands very high in its own estimation, the people at large regard the concern with distrust and suspicion. It is a mutual admiration society for which the thinking men of the Territory have but little respect.—Headlight.

Governor, you should not be so rough on Childers and the gentlemen composing that association. They are our best attorneys, and even if you do not like Childers it is not fair to slander the others as you do.

NEVER.

Never tell your wife how old she looks, it impairs her digestion and very likely will your own.

Never tell your wife how good your mother cooked. It will make her sorry she took you from her.

Never stay out late. Some men have caught a cold from sleeping in the bath room.

Never permit your husband to do all the work. It is like a jug handle all on one side.

Never deal, if you can help it, with a person with a swaybacked nose.

Never deal with a person with a crooked finger, a natural deformity. You may regret it.

Never pick a quarrel with a man broad between the ears, and who has a large nose. You may regret it.

Never accumulate riches by selling whiskey and then become a prohibitionist. Such persons are so mean they stink.

In Memoriam.

Dr. A. C. Walker, the subject of this brief notice, died at his home in Socorro at 9 o'clock a. m. December 12th., 1892, of pneumonia, after an illness of about four days. He was born in 1828, in Lancaster county, Pa., about twenty-five miles from Philadelphia. After arriving at the age of manhood, he attended some of the medical schools in that city, and subsequently was a practicing physician there for many years, having an extensive practice not only among the wealthier class, but especially among the poor and needy. From Philadelphia he came to Socorro in the spring of 1882, with Mrs. Margaret E. Walker, his sorrowing wife, who remains to mourn his loss. About that time he began to build the Walker House, which afterward was partly destroyed by floods; was subsequently rebuilt, greatly improved and furnished, and was finally totally destroyed by fire in the spring of 1889, thus sweeping away in a single night all the property the owners had invested in Socorro. Since that time they have struggled under adverse circumstances to save some part of the wreck, and if possible to repair some of the losses they had suffered, but as they had lost substantially all their means, this was difficult. There is no doubt but that the hardships, privations, struggles and disappointments endured in these efforts, were the direct cause of his death, and of the loss of health by his wife. They have literally sacrificed themselves in trying to save a remnant of their property to give themselves an honorable support in old age.

Dr. Walker's family have always been known as orthodox Quakers and he died in that faith. His ancestors came to Pennsylvania in a very early day, being induced to settle in that state by their religious belief.

He leaves to mourn him, besides his wife, two brothers, residents of Christiansburg, Pa., where he was born, and also two married sisters. Owing to the serious illness of Mrs. Walker, he was buried from the residence of our townsman John W. Terry, where a funeral service was had, conducted by Rev. Dr. McKellar assisted by Dr. Harwood. Thence the mortal remains of our former neighbor, who had spent his money, labor and talents, and even life itself to build up our city, and make a prosperous community, were carried away with the last tokens of respect and consigned to his grave: the final destiny of us all.

On Monday last all the telegraph operators on the A. & P. road from Albuquerque to Mojave went out on a strike. This practically closed the road, all trains were abandoned on Monday and on Tuesday none were running. On the S. P. road about the same state of affairs exist. The operators are out from El Paso, Texas, to central California. This strike practically closes the southern routes for travel. The trouble on the S. P. was caused on account of an obnoxious affidavit ordered to be signed by the men, stating that they were not members of any organization. The men sent the affidavit back and quit. The operators on that road are not peons. On the A. & P. the men want better wages than they have been getting, and having made a schedule they are standing by it.

With this issue we insert the ad. of the Albuquerque Adademy. This is its 12th. year, it is giving the best college preparatory course of any institution in the southwest. This school is a No. 1, and deserves patronage from the Territory.

R. G. Anderson, one of ye old time Cœur d'Alene miners, has made a big strike of high grade carbonet ore in the Lincoln Lucky mine at San Pedro. Shake, brother Anderson, the time was when the snow was deep, and grub scarce for both of us.

Mias Bertha Bowman, sister of Jno. Bowman, arrived on Friday's delayed train from Atchison, Kansas. She will spend the winter with Mr. and Mrs. Bowman.

M. S. Burkhart late clerk of the supreme court came to Socorro Tuesday in attendance upon court.

Do you see that well dressed man? Price Bros. & Co. ordered his clothes.

Hon. J. S. Sniffen, of the Socorro National bank went to Albuquerque on Saturday last.

Alfalfa hay is selling at from fifteen to sixteen dollars per ton. Planting alfalfa it seems to us would be a good investment.

Leeson has been busy all the past week selling household goods at auction. Jim says: "It is an ill wind that blows nobody some good."

Mr. D. P. Burnham, of the firm of Rumsey and Burnham, owners of the Palace hotel, Santa Fe, went to the City of Mexico the last week for his health.

J. H. McCutchen went to El Paso Monday, just in time to dodge a subpoena issued by the U. S. grand jury, for his appearance before that body.

Serapio Romero, deputy U. S. marshal for New Mexico, came down on Tuesday's train. He reports deep snow in the northern part of the Territory.

When Hon. E. V. Chavez goes away from Socorro he comes home sick. He says that hereafter the World's Fair commissioners must meet in Socorro. We now understand why they will hold their next meeting in this city.

A bad cold, with a general disposition to be sick, kept the editor of this paper away from the silver convention at El Paso this week. The fact is there is a large amount of sickness, and we are not stuck on pneumonia in any form, however mild.

Through the compliments of W. H. H. Llewellyn, of the board of World's Columbian Exposition managers for New Mexico, we have received a neat pamphlet giving the law and rules governing the exposition so far as applicable to New Mexico.

The attention of our readers is called to the program of the Socorro Dramatic Club, which appears on the fourth page. The members of this club are working hard to produce a first-class entertainment on Tuesday eve., Dec. 29, the proceeds of which goes to the school fund, and from the progress now being made will undoubtedly be crowned with success. Everybody should attend as it will be a grand treat.

Col. F. M. Galloway has purchased the interest of his partner, Col. John P. Hyland, in that sprightly Deming paper, the Advance. Col. Hyland will hereafter spend his entire time courting the plains in search of the rascally mesal smuggler, while Col. Galloway will devote his time to Deming and the search for the elusive news item. Do not interrupt them pray, in their search, although you will be perfectly safe in stopping them long enough to ask them to drink. Whether this invitation would be accepted or not an experiment only can demonstrate.—Enterprise.
